Bio & Education

Mr. Bell was born in Houston and raised in a suburb outside of Houston called Missouri City. He grew up with parents that took him to plays and musicals when he was younger and he also grew up singing in the choir at church, as well as in school. In middle school his love for theatre started and continued on through college. He attended the University of North Texas, while there he worked at KNTU radio and for the UNT Televisions Station, as well as The Murchison Performing Arts Center.
