Bio & Education

This is my second year at Frisco High and my third year of teaching. Before coming to Frisco I taught at Garland High School. I attended college at Hardin Simmons University (Go Cowboys!) where I received a bachelor of music degree in Church Music. I later changed subjects and am now certified to teach Social Studies. I have been married for five years to my wife I met at HSU, and we had our first son this past summer, Jackson. We both teach at Frisco and love being a part of the Frisco family.

Activities/Hobbies

Anything else you want parents and students to know about you... I love baseball (huge Texas Rangers fan, ask your kids) and most other sports. I love music and learning about history. I also like to watch movies and TV shows.
