

Homecoming Week Recap:

Friday night, seniors Amanda Campbell and Zach Phipps were named 2013 Homecoming King and Queen at Fisd Memorial Stadium. The half-time crowning ceremony ended a week of spirit-themed days on campus, which led to the game against Bryon Nelson High School. Tuesday the theme was "Welcome to the Fun House." Students came to school decked out in neon colors. Wednesday was "See Yourself in a Hall of Mirrors." Students paired up and dressed alike. Thursday was "Play Games at the Boardwalk," students wore their favorite sports team's jerseys, shirts, and other items. Friday was "FHS in the Center Ring," staff wore their convocation shirts, and students were dressed in school colors. Dressed in school colors, students and staff opened the new competition gym Friday afternoon with the first pep rally of the season. Homecoming nominees were introduced to the student body. James Hwang and Haley Schambach were named junior prince and princess. The sophomore prince and princess was Bryce Gray and Chelsea Battad. The freshman prince and princess was Ryan Vilade and

Outstanding Performer:

Frisco High School's beloved mascot, Frisky the Raccoon, participated in a mascot camp last month at the University of North Texas and came home the big winner! The event offered training and advice on how to boost school spirit and be a more effective mascot. It was sponsored by the National Cheerleaders Association. FHS sophomore Lacey Lackey competed as Frisky against seven other area mascots. Frisky won a total of three blue ribbons, including All-American, highest score on best routine and highest score on game entrance. A two-minute skit to "Ice Ice Baby" definitely got the crowd pumped up!

FHS Library Opens Its Doors:

The new FHS Library opened its doors Friday, September 6, thanks to the helping hands of Frisco High School students and staff. Volunteers flooded the library for three full days and emptied boxes of books and placed them on the shelves, arranged furniture, and made sure all technology was in place. Construction delays kept the library from opening on the first day. However, students and staff were both thrilled with the results, and as Librarian Shelby Bivins said, "There's no library like this in Frisco ISD." Once again, our library demonstrates the commitment Frisco ISD has to libraries and to meeting the needs of all students. Like the former library, this library will provide students with the resources, tools and skills they need to enhance their learning and to prepare students for graduation, college or the work force. When you attend the Annual Meet the Teacher Night at 6 p.m. on September 16, please stop by the library so you can see first-hand what a beautiful facility it is.

The New FHS Cafeteria:

Among the list of new additions at FHS, students and staff will also be able to enjoy a completely remodeled cafeteria with several new food stations. The lunchroom has a slick new look. There are floor-to-ceiling glass windows and convenient express lanes designed to move the students along quickly so they can spend more time at the tables than in line. There are also more food choices ranging from Tex-Mex meals to deli sandwiches. The Frisco Grill offers daily Power Meals which may include beef, chicken, and turkey along with vegetables and fruit choices - all at reasonable prices. The popular Pizza Hut Cafe has returned, and a new Coffee and Smoothie Bar has captured everyone's attention.

"We have lot's of new and exciting things," Jan, the Lunch Lady, said. "Come and see us!"

Outstanding Performer:

Hannah Garrity, FHS Orchestra Harpist, was selected by a UIL Texas State Solo & Ensemble Judge as an outstanding performer. To get some idea of how remarkable this achievement is, there were more than 24,000 students who participated at the State Level in May. Of those who competed, only 305 were chosen by judges as outstanding performers. Hannah was awarded a gold medal in recognition of her accomplishment, and a letter was sent to her parents.
