

Catherine Fowler
Frisco Style
2014 People to Watch

Congratulations to our Fowler Middle School namesake, Catherine Fowler, for being named to the Frisco Style 2014 People to Watch list.

The following is from the June 2014 issue.

Catherine Fowler

“Born and raised in Port Neches, Texas, Catherine Fowler is a graduate of the University of North Texas and taught English at Lake Highlands High School for four and a half years when it first opened. Mrs. Fowler has taught an adult Sunday school class at First United Methodist Church for the past 32 years, and has also sung in the choir and chaired various committees – Council on Ministries, Worship, Education, Women’s Retreat and Capital Campaigns. She has served as a librarian and as district library coordinator for Frisco Independent School District, where she worked for 22 years, serving on many committees. Mrs. Fowler and her husband, Pat, are honored to have a school named after them—Pat and Catherine Fowler Middle School. She has been awarded the “Spirit of Frisco” award by the Frisco Chamber of Commerce and serves on the Frisco Education Foundation Board, where she helped raise money for and award scholarships to graduating seniors; she is the only remaining member from the original board, serving 14 years. Mrs. Fowler serves as the school marm in the one-room school at Frisco Heritage Village, where she presents programs to third grade students from the 34 elementary schools in Frisco and surrounding schools. She also conducts the monthly open house at the schoolhouse in the Heritage Village and at special events in this volunteer position. She served as president of the Frisco Book Review Club for the past two years. She has presented programs to various organizations, including the Frisco Garden Club, Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), Frisco Association of School Personnel and more. She is also active in the Frisco Association of Retired School Personnel. Mrs. Fowler has two sons and six delightful grandchildren.”
